MORGAN DUMPS LOUISA 20-0 IN OPENER FRIDAY

Locals Will Tackle
Prestonsburg Here
On Friday Night

The '54 edition of the Morgan County football Devils made a successful gridiron debut at Louisa Friday night as the boys in Blue rolled up a 20-0 verdict over the home standing Bulldogs. Only six of the 11 players who racked up an 18-13 decision over the Louisa team last year were on hand when the opening whistle sounded.

The Blue Devils centered their offense around a sharp running attack that netted them 279 yards in the rushing department. Morgan County attempted but one pass which was to no avail. Meanwhile the Blue defense held the red clad Louisians to but 87 yards on the ground but spotted the Bulldogs 49 yards via the air.

The Morgan team opened the scoring column early in the second period with Stacy speeding 28 yards on a punt return to score. McKenzie also found pay dirt around end on the conversion to make it 7-0. The Blue team's second six-pointer also came in the second stanza just 10 plays later.

After taking the ball on his own 20, Halback Larry McKenzie areed 80 yards up field to the payoff mark. After failing on the conversion, the Devils took a 13-0 halftime edge.

The two teams fought a stand-off battle during the third quarter and it was not until the final three minutes of the fourth period that the Morgan team reached the scoring column again. It was Fullback Lykins this time who after taking a Franklin handoff sprinted 30 yards through the opposition and zone. Stacy annexed the extra on a pithout and he final count read Morgan County 20, Louisa 0.

A sizeable amount of credit for the victory must be given to the Devil line. Spearheaded by tackle Bob and center L. D. Hutchinson, guards Joe Lykins and Randolph Potter, and center Dale Adams, the Morgan forward wall ripped hole after hole in the Louisa defense. The defensive play of ends Ken Hamilton, Lee Wayne Williams and E. Burton must not be overlooked.

The local team will meet the State's 12th ranking team, Prestonsburg here Friday night. Injuries have taken a heavy toll in the Morgan team this week and guard Lykins and tackle L. D. Hutchinson are doubtful starters against the Black Cats.

MISS NANCY GOES TO FAIR

West Liberty's "Miss Nancy", who has taught in Morgan's schools for almost half a century, did not win the State Fair award in Kentucky.

"Too young," said officials in charge of the Kentucky school-teacher event. They advised Miss Nancy to "go home and get a little age," and then proceeded to show her one of the best times of her life by escorting her to the various State Fair entertainments in her honor, as well as in honor of the 38 teachers present who have taught 40 years or more.

"I never had a better time anywhere," remarked Mrs. Chas. A. Turner, better known to Eastern Kentuckians as Miss Nancy. "Everyone was lovely. We were served a fried-chicken lunch at the clubhouse and then heard A. O. Stanley speak."

Dr. N. B. McMillian, chairman of the teacher contest and director of public relations for the Kentucky Education Association, State Fair Manager J. Dan Baldwin and State Superintendent of Public Instruction Wendell P. Butler saw to it that Miss Nancy and the other teachers had a day crowded with pleasures and

Morgan Accomplishments To Be Entered In State C. C. Contest

Coordinating Groups
Are Formed To Cite
Progress of County

The accomplishments of Morgan county and West Liberty during the year ending next March 1 will be entered in the Community Development Contest of the Kentucky Chamber of Commerce through a county-wide coordinating agency being set up in the county this week.

A first prize of $1,000, second of $700 and third of $300 are offered to communities under 3,500 population that are judged to have made the greatest localized self-improvement in community life during the year. The prize money must be used on civic, economic or social improvement in the community.

Morgan's rapid advancement in many phases of life and activity prompted the organization of an agency to have the county entered in the annual contest sponsored by the Kentucky Chamber of Commerce.

First suggestion that Morgan county be entered in the contest was made by A. H. Jopp, district commercial manager of the Kentucky Power Company, at a meeting of the West Liberty city council this week. Mr. Jopp said he had noted the great improvements made in West Liberty and Morgan county and the other projects proposed, and thought they merited recognition. The city council heartily favored the idea, and the Kiwanis club later voted its support.

New Tax For Housewives Will Be Due In April, 1955

WASHINGTON, Sept. 14—The new Social Security law will give a quarter of a million housewives a new tax to pay. It also will draw many thousands of farm operators into the class paying wage taxes for the first time.

The law provides that an employer must pay the Social Security tax for any household worker to whom he or she pays as much as $50 in the course of three months.

Formerly, an employer did not pay the tax unless a servant worked 24 days in a three-month period. The new law houses this provision. Hence, the tax will be paid in the future on laundresses who come in once a week, waitresses employed for special occasions or anybody paid as much as $50 in three months.

The tax is 4 percent of the cash wages, of which 2 percent may be deducted from the wages

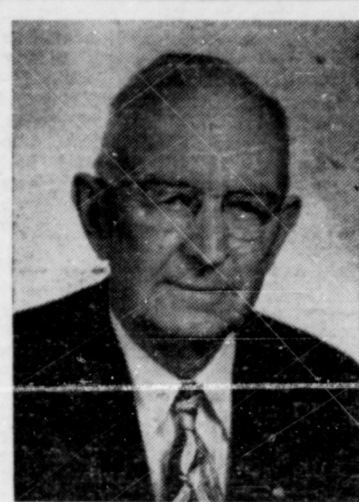

There are penalties for not paying. Not knowing about the change in the law does not avoid a penalty.

The basis for coverage of farm lands is changed, too. A farmer must pay a tax if he pays out as much as $100 next year in wages to a farm hand, regardless of how few days' work this covers.

The new law takes in many self-employed groups, including farmers themselves, architects, engineers, accountants and funeral directors.

These self-employed persons must report their earnings and pay the taxes on themselves.

Notable newcomers to Social Security coverage are ministers. Each minister is given two years to decide whether he will place himself under the law. If he elects to pay the tax and become eligible for old age and survivor benefits, a minister need pay only on the cash income he receives as salary.

REV. HARLEN MURPHY of West Liberty will preside at the annual meeting of the West Liberty District of Christian churches to be held Friday, Saturday and Sunday at the White Oak church.

GRASSY CREEK WATERSHED AID PROJECT FILED

Quick Cooperation
Of County Groups
Shown At Meeting

Formal application for a Grassy Creek watershed development project in Morgan and Wolfe counties was made early this week to the State Department of Conservation.

The formal application was filed following a meeting of the Grassy Creek landowners held last Friday night at the store of Roe Wheeler at Grassy Creek at which they organized the Grassy Creek Watershed Association.

Officers of the new association are: Glenn Oldfield, Mize, president; Hager M. Ray, vice president; Glenn Lacy, secretary and treasurer; and W. M. Wheeler, Charles E. Cecil, C. A. Fugate, Irvin Conley, E. A. Cecil and Paul Gevedon, directors.

The meeting at Grassy Creek was called by Dillard Murphy, chairman of the Morgan County Soil Conservation District at a meeting of interested citizens in West Liberty the preceding night.

Mr. Murphy appointed the following to compose the committee at Grassy Creek: Cummings A. Fugate, Albert Dorsey, H. A. Wallace, Roe Wheeler, Glenn Lacy, Glenn Oldfield, Irvine Conley, E. A. Cecil, Charles Gevedon, Hager M. Ray. Other attending the organization meeting at the Wheeler store were: Paul Gevedon, J. F. Ferguson, Fred Chaney, Mrs. Fannie Jackson and John Oldfield.

The new Grassy Creek Watershed Association authorized its president by unanimous vote to sign the application for federal assistance under the new Watershed Protection and Flood Prevention Act.

Likewise the Wolfe County Soil Conservation District cooperated immediately by signing the application for the 800 acres of the Grassy Creek watershed lying in Wolfe county. Other organizations that met and signed the application were the Licking Valley REA, the Mountain Rural Telephone Cooperative and Morgan County Soil Conservation District, which initiated the project.

Other groups interested in the project are the Morgan County Fish and Game Club, the Kiwanis Club of West Liberty and the Farm Bureau.

The formal application for federal assistance on the project sets out that the watershed contains 33,122 acres, all but 800 acres of which is in Morgan county, and that 135 farmers owning 51% of the land already are cooperators in the Soil Conservation District and have completed about one-third of the planned conservation practices. However, it is pointed out that creek channels are too small, shallow and crooked and congested to carry off flood waters and that damage to crops and property by floods, erosion of land, etc. is excessive. Even outlets of tile drainage systems are too shallow, the application states. Also the sedimentation in stream beds is causing a dearth of water flow in the main stream during dry seasons.

The application says objectives of the project are reduction of floodwater damage, sedimentation and erosion damage, provide tile drainage outlets, provide sufficient water for 20 irrigation systems, and help provide better water supplies, food and cover for wildlife and fish by increasing the water supply and abating pollution, and to create recreational facilities along the stream.

DEATH ON THE HIGHWAYS

The death of two young men on the highways in Morgan county last week and the serious injury of a little child which may yet be fatal, are alarming to say the least.

Our officers and state police are doing all that seems humanly possible on their part to save the lives and lessen accidents on the highways, and yet the toll continues.

Practically all accidents can be avoided if all persons would be careful enough and take no chances. Sober, careful drivers and cars with proper brakes, driven at proper speed at all times, would prevent most of the accidents.

Lives of 1,000 children at West Liberty school depend upon drivers of cars and the children. It seems that every teacher should give a few minutes each day to safety talks.

OUR BOUNTIFUL HARVEST

Traveling over Morgan county at this season of the year, one finds on every hand fields of good corn, the finest crop of tobacco the county has ever raised, plenty of hay, bountiful gardens and apples on every tree.

Farmers and their wives are now busy saving the crops. Farm machinery is doing the work of human muscles.

Good roads, ponds for stock and fish are to be seen too. New homes and barns are being built. Electric power lines are everywhere. Automobiles and a new telephone system being built into all the rural communities add to a prosperous picture. All adds up and makes a picture of beauty, happiness, prosperity and good rural homes—the bulwark of this great nation. Morgan county is becoming a fine agricultural area.

MAINE ELECTS A DEMOCRAT

Although the old saying, "As Maine goes, so goes the nation" is no longer considered an accurate barometer, this rock-ribbed state elected a Democratic governor at its general election Tuesday. The Democrat, a member of the party's national committee, defeated the present Republican governor and in doing so received over 55 per cent of the votes cast.

Margaret Chase Smith, present Republican Senator, was re-elected, but a majority was 12 per cent less than she got in 1948. Likewise the majorities of all Republicans were cut approximately 12 per cent from two years ago. Vice President Nixon had campaigned in the state and had asserted the vote in Maine would be the first big test of Eisenhower strength for the general elections this fall.

On the average, Republican candidates, except for governor, received 55 per cent of the vote.

Political statisticians had calculated before the election that unless Maine gave the Republicans 60 per cent of its votes, the Democrats could be expected to win control of Congress when the rest of the country holds its elections in November.

On the basis of the Maine outcome, Democratic leaders predicted their party would pick up a minimum of 40 seats in the House.

IN LOVING MEMORY OF

REV. JAMES F. COTTE

Who was born May 10, 1870, and departed this life and went to live with Jesus Sept. 28, 1952—

My dear brother, age 82 years old, has left this world of trouble to tread the streets of gold.

Please do not weep for him, his spirit has taken its flight. He has gone where there is no scorching fever, gone where there is no weary night.

We know he has gone to heaven, where all good people dwell, where there will be no sickness and no sad farewells.

His loving wife is left to weep and mourn alone, but praise the Lord, she can meet him around the shining throne.

There is a sadness now in her home which never was there before, but the dear one who has left it, has gone to the bright golden shore.

For God in His infinite wisdom, who doeth all things well, has taken him home to heaven with the angels forever to dwell.

FHA COMMITTEE

The Farmers Home Administration makes loans to family-type farm operators to buy, improve or operate efficient farms, or to construct or repair farm water facilities needed for profitable operation. Special livestock loans are made where temporary credit is needed to enable the operator to remain in operation. The agency also has made emergency loans here where emergency credit has been needed. However, the agency does not make loans of any type to any applicant whose needs can be handled by other credit sources.

Before any money can be borrowed through the agency, an applicant must have the approval of the county committee. In the case of a farm ownership loan, the farm to be purchased, enlarged or improved must also be approved by the committee, the county supervisor explained.

"For the past ten years, we have been fortunate in having such men as Hobert Debusch, Curtis Easterling, Hager Arnett, Daniel Helton, the late Arlie Williams, and Chess Dyer serving as committeemen. We feel they are outstanding farmers and citizens in their communities and the county," says the Supervisor.

"Then too," Mr. Blair further explained, "Mr. Dyer before serving as a committeeman made outstanding progress in getting established and becoming successful in the farming business by way of the Farm Ownership program of the Farmers Home Administration. Most of the other past committeemen have received assistance through our Operating Loan Program."

WATERSHED

The association recommended contour farming, sowing kudzu on stream banks, seeding new pastures, improving woodlands, building tile and open drainage systems, terracing and building ponds, building three or four flood retention dams and a like number of sedimentation dams, widening, deepening and straightening stream channels, etc.

The application further set out that the people of the Grassy valley are accustomed to working together in community enterprises and that full cooperation of landowners as to rights-of-way, etc. is anticipated.

The new Watershed Protection and Flood Prevention Act is designed to promote closer cooperation between federal, state and local interests in developing the flood control programs on small watersheds and conserving soils and cropland along streams.

Gov. Wetherby has designated the Department of Conservation to administer the act in Kentucky, and Henry Ward, conservation commissioner, determined that the Soil Conservation Districts, which are organized in all 120 counties, are the best qualified local organizations to initiate the projects.

Dillard Murphy, chairman of the Morgan County Soil Conservation District, said this week similar projects for other watersheds in the county may be initiated if and when sufficient local interest develops among landowners. Such projects later may be started on Taneey, Elkfork and Blackwater.

JOHN D. ENGLE, JR.

Send all poems to Mr. Engle
326 Woodland Ave., Lexington, Ky.

My apologies for being absent for so long. My excuses are: moving to a new house, the additional responsibility of a new baby, and the beginning of a new year of school. My contributors as well as my readers are perhaps beginning to wonder what has happened to me.

It was some time ago that Lucille Estes Webb of 762 Steiner Street, Cincinnati 4, Ohio, sent me two very interesting poems. I am finally getting around to sharing them with my readers. The poems are written in the acrostic manner. This is the first time that acrostic poems have been submitted to or used in M.M. Note that a vertical reading of the first letters in each line spells out the same as the title of the poem.

ALPHA AND OMEGA

At the beginning Jesus was there,
Lighting the way for those in despair;
Planning for peace and humanity's goal,
In one of His Father, Home of my soul,
Aeons of aeons His power does unfold.

Out of Heaven came Jesus to save
Mankind from sin and power o'er the grave;
End without end He ever does reign.

Those who are interested in submitting poetry for this purpose should send at least ten average-length poems as it usually takes about this many for a fifteen minute program. Please send also a self-addressed stamped envelope for the return of your poems if unused or for a copy of the script if they are used.

The radio program has been in progress for thirteen weeks. In addition to my own poetry, I have used poetry contributed by Truda McCoy of Pikeville; William M. Justice of Pikeville; Lois Smith Hiers of Canada, Ky.; and Alma Robison Higbee, a Morgan county poet now residing at Lathrop, Missouri. I have also used the work of one Bluegrass poet, H. Edward Richardson of Richmond, Ky.

The program is broadcast from station WLEX, 1300 on the dial, each Saturday at 11:45 a.m. If you listen to the program, I appreciate your writing and telling me what you think of it. The only way I or the studio officials know how many listeners the poem is quite interesting, not only in the way it is written, but also in the message that it conveys. The last line, I believe, is the most important and the most convincing of all. There are a few points where improvement may be made in the poem. In the third line of the first stanza, for example, the poet sacrifices the rhyme scheme of the poem for the sake of the acrostic design by putting the word, "in," at the end of that line instead of at the beginning of the next. The words, "soul-unfold," do not rhyme. The word "o'er" in the second line of stanza two is a poeticism that should be avoided. The same is true of the inversions, "came Jesus to save," and "He ever does reign."

GETHESEMANE

Garden of anguish, garden of pain,

Entered our Savior for strength to sustain
Thoughts of calvary. His Father did heed,
Hears our petitions and fills every need.
Some kneel in that beautiful garden today,
Entreating their Savior for help on the way.
Mounting life's summit grows weary, it's true,
And often we stumble o'er stones that we strew.
Never give up, but pray as did He,
E den is waiting; but, first—Gethsemane.

This poem is constructed in the same interesting manner, and it contains perhaps more truth than poetry in the theme, "Each man must bow in his own Gethsemane." Perhaps the poem could be improved by changing the obsolete "did heed" and "o'er."

I take this opportunity to invite the poetically successful readers of M.M. to submit their poetry for possible use on my radio program. Of course I can use only the best poetry of those who have been successful in having their poetry accepted rather widely by poetry magazines and newspapers or those who have had one or more books of poems published.

Ballard Lyons was in Sandy Hook Monday and said a new oil well was drilled in last Friday on the farm of Willie Lewis by Grant Rice and Robert Fannin. It is thought that it will be a good well though complete tests had not been made.

The well is about a mile from the Briar Fork wells and west of the other wells drilled in that section. The nearest producing well is about a mile east.

FLORESS— COMMUNITY GIVES TO POLIO DRIVE

FLORESS, Ky., Sept. 13—(By Nora Easterling)—One of our community's promising citizens, Miss Phyllis Hall, age 17, who was planning to enter college, was stricken with polio so suddenly that most of the neighbors heard Miss Hall was dead before they knew she was ill. Phyllis' death put all folks in the community on the alert to try to do something about polio and its cause. Each mother is watching her children carefully and every illness puts fear in their hearts that their child might have polio.

When I received an envelope to send in a donation, I volunteered to ask for funds in our community, since I am about the only one who does "not have" a full time job. I had a great experience while visiting most of the homes in our community. The attitude in which each one gave was indication that they gave from the goodness and depth of their hearts. Most everyone gave without being asked, as I wore a poster with my errand printed on it.

I took off Monday and Thursday to visit the homes. Monday I covered our lower community, then up to the post office Tuesday morning. Beginning at home: Elder Walter Easterling gave $1; Mary Lou, Billy and Deborah Conley $3; Dovey and Dora Easterling $1; Vinson and Kate Williams $1; Lufe Elam 50¢; Dockie Bolin $1; James and Laura Williams $2; B. and Mae Williams $2; Mrs. Minnie Elam 50¢; Mrs. Haley Pack 50¢; Elder Walter Johnson 50¢; Alka Elam 25¢; Mrs. Flora Elam 10¢; Mrs. Sewell Hamilton $1; Mr. and Mrs. Victor Conley by Aquila $1.50; Elder E. T. Nickell $1; Mrs. Bessie Nickell $1; Nora Easterling $1.15—which amounted to $20.00 sent in Tuesday morning.

Easterling and Mrs. Myrtle Hackney $1 each; Mrs. Susan Phipps $1; Mrs. Flossie Williams 50¢; Clayton Doolin 20¢; Mrs. Lizzie Pack 50¢; Mrs. Edna Lewis 50¢; Henry Cox $1; Elder Arlie Nickell $1; Mr. Ova Pelfrey $1; Claude McGuire $1 and A. J. Pelfrey 50¢ which amounted to $9.20 sent in Friday morning. Tuesdays and Fridays money orders for polio funds amounted to $29.20.

I wish to thank each one who gave to this emergency campaign for funds to combat polio.

Shade For Suckers
Improves Tobacco
The only way to produce smoking quality tips in burley tobacco is to grow them in the shade under suckers, a speaker pointed out at a recent tobacco conference at the University of Kentucky.
Tobacco suckered from top to bottom is constantly exposed to direct sunshine and the leaves thicken to prevent burning, he said. This thickening of the leaves produces tobacco which has poor burning qualities and is not desirable for smoking, he claimed.
"Also, with the present-day demand for low-nicotine-content burley," he went on, "it should be remembered that topping low and keeping all the suckers removed increased the nicotine content of the cured leaf."

ANY SETTING
The unusual fireplace makes a very attractive separation between the living and dining areas. When you have a fire you will be able to enjoy its pleasant warmth from either area. The large closet off the front hall is an excellent place for a forced hot-air heating system. It is centrally located, enabling you to use very short metal hot-air ducts. If you put louvered doors on the heater room, the hall can serve as the return air path.

Mountain Muses

Edited By
JOHN D. ENGLE, JR.

Send all poems to Mr. Engle
326 Woodland Ave., Lexington, Ky.

My apologies for being absent for so long. My excuses are: moving to a new house, the additional responsibility of a new baby, and the beginning of a new year of school. My contributors as well as my readers are perhaps beginning to wonder what has happened to me.

It was some time ago that Lucille Estes Webb of 762 Steiner Street, Cincinnati 4, Ohio, sent me two very interesting poems. I am finally getting around to sharing these poems with my readers. The poems are written in the acrostic manner. This is the first time that acrostic poems have been submitted to or used in M.M. Note that a vertical reading of the first letters in each line spells out the same as the title of the poem.

ALPHA AND OMEGA

At the beginning Jesus was there,
Lighting the way for those in despair;
Planning for peace and humanity's goal,
Home of His Father, Home of my soul,
Aeons of aeons His power does unfold,
Out of Heaven came Jesus to save,
Mankind from sin and power o'er the grave;
End without end He ever does reign,
Come back to Heaven, but coming again;
All that He promised, by faith, we attain.

This poem is quite interesting, not only in the way it is written, but also in the message that it conveys. The last line, I believe, is the most important and the most convincing of all. There are a few points where improvement may be made in the poem. In the third line of the first stanza, for example, the poet sacrifices the rhyme scheme of the poem for the sake of the acrostic design by putting the word, "in," at the end of that line instead of at the beginning of the next. The words, "soul-unfold," do not rhyme. The word "ever," in the second line of stanza two is a poeticism that should be avoided. The same is true of the inversions, "came Jesus to save," and "He ever does reign."

GETHEMSEANE

Garden of anguish, garden of pain,

Entered our Savior for strength to sustain
Thoughts of calvary. His Father did heed,
Hears our petitions and fills every need.
Some kneel in that beautiful garden today,
Entreat their Savior for help on the way.
Mounting life's summit grows weary, it's true,
And often we stumble o'er stones that we strew.
Never give up, but pray—did He,
E den is waiting; but, first—Gethsemane.

This poem is constructed in the same interesting manner, and it contains perhaps more truth than poetry in the theme, "Each man must bow in his own Gethsemane." Perhaps the poem could be improved by changing the obsolete "did heed" and "o'er."

I take this opportunity to invite the poetically successful readers of M.M. to submit their poetry for possible use on my radio program. Of course I can use only the best poetry of those who have been successful in having their poetry accepted rather widely by poetry magazines and newspapers or those who have had one or more books of poems published.

Those who are interested in submitting poetry for this purpose should send at least ten average-length poems as it usually takes about this many for a fifteen minute program. Please send also a self-addressed stamped envelope for the return of your poems if unused or for a copy of the script if they are used.

The radio program has been in progress for thirteen weeks. In addition to my own poetry, I have used poetry contributed by Truda McCoy of Pikeville; William M. Justice of Pikeville; Lois Smith Hiers of Canada, Ky.; and Alma Robison Higbee, a Morgan county poet now residing at Lathrop, Missouri. I have also used the work of one Bluegrass poet, H. Edward Richardson of Richmond, Ky.

The program is broadcast from station WLEX, 1300 on the dial, each Saturday at 11:45 a.m. If you listen to the program, I appreciate your writing and telling me what you think of it. The only way I or the studio officials know how many listeners the

New Oil Well On Near Briar Fork

Ballard Lyons was in Sandy Hook Monday and said a new oil well was drilled in last Friday on the farm of Willie Lewis by Grant Rice and Robert Fannin. It is thought that it will be a good well though complete tests had not been made.

The well is about a mile from the Briar Fork wells and west of the other wells drilled in that section. The nearest producing well is about a mile east.

FLORESS— COMMUNITY GIVES TO POLIO DRIVE

FLORESS, Ky., Sept. 13—(By Nora Easterling)—One of our community's promising citizens, Miss Phyllis Hall, age 17, who was planning to enter college, was stricken with polio so suddenly that most of the neighbors heard Miss Hall was dead before they knew she was ill. Phyllis' death put all folks in the community on the alert to try to do something about polio and its cause. Each mother is watching her children carefully and every illness puts fear in their hearts that their child might have polio.

When I received an envelope to send in a donation, I volunteered to ask for funds in our community, since I am about the only one who does not have a full time job. I had a great experience while visiting most of the homes in our community. The attitude in which each one gave was indication that they gave from the goodness and depth of their hearts. Most everyone gave without being asked, as I wore a poster with my errand printed on it.

I took off Monday and Thursday to visit the homes. Monday I covered our lower community, then up to the post office Tuesday morning. Beginning at home: Elder Walter Easterling gave $1; Mary Lou, Billy and Deborah Conley $3; Dovey and Dora Easterling $1; Vinson and Kate Williams $1; Lave Elam 50¢; Dockie Bolin $1; James and Laura Williams $2; B. and Mae Williams $2; Mrs. Minnie Elam 50¢; Mrs. Haley Pack 50¢; Elder Walter Johnson 50¢; Alka Elam 25¢; Mrs. Flora Elam 10¢; Mrs. Sewell Hamilton $1; Mr. and Mrs. Victor Conley by Aquila $1.50; Elder E. T. Nickell $1; Mrs. Bessie Nickell $1; Mrs. Nannie K. Haney $1; Nora Easterling $1.15—which amounted to $20.00 sent in Tuesday morning.

Thursday I covered the upper community starting with $2 given by U. G. Easterling and Mrs. Myrtle Hackney $1 each; Mrs. Susan Phipps $1; Mrs. Flossie Williams 50¢; Clayton Doolin 20¢; Mrs. Lizzie Pack 50¢; Mrs. Edna Lewis 50¢; Henry Cox $1; Elder Arlie Nickell $1; Mrs. Ova Pelfrey $1; Claude McGuire $1 and A. J. Pelfrey 50¢ which amounted to $9.20 sent in Friday morning. Tuesdays and Fridays money orders for polio funds amounted to $29.20.

I wish to thank each one who gave to this emergency campaign for funds to combat polio.

Mrs. Nannie K. Haney, Floress postmistress, checked these statements and witnessed them to be true then wrote the money orders to Walton Jones, treasurer of Infantile Paralysis funds, West Liberty, Ky.

Mr. and Mrs. James C. Conley and children were Sunday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Milt Sparks of Elk Fork. Other guests were Mr. and Mrs. Ora Smith and children of Williams Creek.

Mrs. Dovey Easterling, 72, and Mrs. Naomi Conley, 44, attended the homecoming at Tar Kiln.

Mrs. Missouri Sparks, 68, who says she has been a Christian for 50 years, also Milton Sparks, 75, and Mr. and Mrs. Ora Smith and children of Williams Creek were week end guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Conley.

Walter (Jack) Conley and Russell and Marvin Conley of Matthew helped James Conley cut tobacco Saturday. Marvin is 13 years old and cut 60 sticks of tobacco an hour.

Elder and Mrs. Tooney Easterling and children of Fairborn, Ohio and Jimmie Minnix of Columbus, Ohio were last week guests of their parents and also grandparents, The U. G. Easterling folks, Walter Easterlings and the Alfred Johnsons.

Shade For Suckers
Improves Tobacco

The only way to produce smoking quality tips in burley tobacco is to grow them in the shade under suckers, a speaker pointed out at a recent tobacco conference at the University of Kentucky.

Tobacco suckered from top to bottom is constantly exposed to direct sunshine and the leaves thicken to prevent burning, he said. This thickening of the leaves produces tobacco which has poor burning qualities and is not desirable for smoking, he claimed.

"Also, with the present-day demand for low-nicotine-content burley," he went on, "it should be remembered that topping low and keeping all the suckers removed increased the nicotine content of the cured leaf."

130,000 Persons Get

HOUSE PLAN No. 5252

ATTRACTIVE IN ANY SETTING

FARM AND RANCH Plan No. 5252 is compact, simple and economical to build. The wide overhanging open eaves protect the walls and windows from most rains so that you can leave the windows partially open for ventilation. The brick and vertical wood sidings offer a pleasing variety of textures.

The car port, back porch and hall storage area give minimum cost and maximum service. This area need not have a ceiling. The exposed framework will be very attractive when painted. We have used the car port because most people do not close the garage doors anyway. The doors alone would cost from $100 to $150.

Storage space for clothing or materials that are used outside is off the rear entrance hall. The back porch will be a delightful place to loaf during warm summer days. It may be screened if you wish.

Seldom do you find a house with three bedrooms, two baths, separate dining room and work room area, which is both cozy and spacious like this one. All areas have more than adequate closet space.

The unusual fireplace makes a very attractive separation between the living and dining areas. When you have a fire you will be able to enjoy its pleasant warmth from either area. The large closet off the front hall is an excellent place for a forced hot-air heating system. It is centrally located, enabling you to use very short metal hot-air ducts. If you put louvered doors on the heater room, the hall can serve as the return air path.

You can obtain prints for this FARM AND RANCH House Plan No. 5252 and a handy list of materials by which you can figure your construction cost accurately. Send $1 to Building Editor, Farm and Ranch, Nashville, Tennessee. Order by number—plan 5252 and blueprints are adequate for any farm carpenter or any farmer handy with tools. Dept. E-89.
